I. DESCRIPTION

Through the critical reading of selected classic works of British literature, this course develops skills in analysis, appreciation, and understanding of British literature from the Middle Ages through the eighteenth century. Literary selections include works from the early manuscripts, medieval authors, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton, Bunyan, and Swift. In addition, Part One of British Literature focuses on some works of Christian literary tradition and allows for student evaluation of well-known works in light of scriptural truth. III. REQUIRED MATERIALS

A. Required Textbooks

- The Bible is a required textbook in every course at Calvary University. To facilitate academic level study, students are required to use for assignments and research an English translation or version of the Bible based on formal equivalence (meaning that the translation is generally word-for-word from the original languages), including any of the following: New American Standard (NASB), English Standard Version (ESV), New King James (NKJV), or King James (KJV). Other translations and versions based on dynamic equivalence (paraphrases and thought-for-thought translations like NLT and NIV) may be used as supplemental sources. Please ask the professor if you have questions about a particular translation or version.
- Abrams, M. H. The Norton Anthology of English Literature. 9th Edition. Volume 1. ISBN: 9780393912470. $88.49 (new), $7 (used). Amazon Link

Note: Several of our class readings are not included in the above textbook and will come from public domain internet resources. The textbook, however, does contain the majority of our readings and is an important purchase as the editor's introductions and analysis of the works provide important keys to our analysis of these works.

B. Suggested Resources

- MLA Handbook, 8th Edition

IV. REQUIREMENTS

A. Attendance: Students must attend the class section for which they enroll. Online students may attend via live stream (if applicable) or by watching the recorded lecture.

Attendance is taken for all in-class and livestream students.

Missing a class will result in a zero for class participation that day.

B. Reading Assignments and Application Activities: Reading assignments are assigned from the required textbook. After reading the material, students will complete a discussion board, application activity, or reflection. See Canvas for details.

C. Reading Assignments: This course is reading-intensive.

Reading assignments are assigned from the required textbook (see below). Students may not substitute any kind of Cliff Notes, E-Notes, or online summaries of any kind. Students will certify that they have completed reading in Canvas.

- D. Discussion Board: The professor will assign discussion questions in Canvas each week. Responses must match their required length, be clearly organized, and be well-supported by notes, quotes from the text, or outside research. A rubric will provide detail on grading standards.
- E. Literature Report: Students will choose a novel, play, or extended piece of poetry from a British author of this time period, read it, take thorough notes, and write 2–3 page report, which describes the novel’s major literary elements and their effect on the work as a whole. Though not a full literary analysis, this paper still requires attention to detail and an application of literary elements and historical and cultural background. A list of suggested texts will be provided. If the student elects to choose a text not on the list of suggestions, the literary work must be approved by the instructor.
- F. Literary Essay: In a 7–10 page essay, argue a particular thesis about a literary work discussed in this course. Example topics include:
- a. What does Sir Gawain and the Green Knight tell us about the cultural ideals of Middle England?
 - b. What is different between the Christianity of Bunyan and that of Milton?
 - c. What does Gulliver’s final journey reveal about the human condition?
 - d. From a historical context, how should the tragedy of Romeo and Juliet be understood?
- Five outside resources must be included in the essay, and quotes from the primary short stories studied are expected. See Canvas for additional details.

F. Other Assignment Policies

1. Style Guide: All class papers must follow the MLA style according to the MLA Handbook, 8th edition.
2. Plagiarism is defined as copying any content without identifying the source. This also includes taking another person’s or AI entity’s ideas or constructs and presenting them as your own. The use of AI-generated content in student work is prohibited (even if cited) as it does not represent original work created by the student and is an unreliable aggregate of ideas from other sources. Plagiarism of any kind will not be tolerated.
3. Other forms of cheating include copying another student’s work, allowing a student to do your work, using notes instead of reading the literary works, basing your research essay on another essay, bringing cheat sheets or written information to a quiz or an exam, and working collaboratively with another student on individual assignments. This also includes handing in one essay for assignments given in two different courses to reduce the amount of student work. Please check with the professor if you have concerns or doubts about the academic approach you plan to take for an assignment.
4. Late work: Late work will not be accepted without special permission from the instructor.
5. Originality: Students may not hand in one paper from two different courses – even if the paper has been altered. Students may not hand in a paper written for another class in previous courses. All work must be completely new and written solely by the student.

6. Absences: Students are responsible for making up missed coursework. Watch the recorded class video to find out what was covered.

V. METHODS

- A. Lectures, Discussions: This course is balanced between lecture and discussion. Students are expected to participate in discussions. Online students will be given special instructions about how to participate in these discussions.
